Top 5 Benefits of Working with a WVSG Recruiter

1. There is no cost associated with WVSG finding you a job

Not only will you have a professional with multiple resources assist you in looking for a job, but an additional benefit is that our services are free.

2. A WVSG recruiter can help you find potential job opportunities that you might otherwise not know about

Our recruiters are linked with many hiring managers and human resource professionals throughout the bay area, giving them the advantage of knowing what jobs or opportunities have recently become available. Many companies may not post positions on their website due to the urgency of the need. Instead they rely on West Valley Staffing Group to find qualified candidates immediately.

3. Help you prepare for interviews

Our recruiters have extensive knowledge and expertise on what hiring managers are looking for. They can coach you on explicit points of interests and help you prepare for an interview that is specifically tailored for that company and position.

4. WVSG Recruiters will provide adequate feedback

When interviewing directly with a company, you might not always get feedback that explains why you weren't chosen for a job. The lack of feedback doesn't allow the opportunity to improve your interviewing skills. Our recruiters will do everything possible to let you know what may or may not have worked during the interview, thus helping you prepare for future interviews.

5. WVSG Recruiters are specialized

WVSG recruiters specialize in different industries and skill sets within the engineering, administrative, technology, and accounting fields. For example, there are recruiters that fill jobs in the solar industry or in the financial sector and different recruiters that fill light industrial positions. If you have a specific skill set, it might help your job search to seek out one of our recruiters that will most effectively promote your skills and experience.
